make it accessible. This isn't just for cattlemen.

SENATOR KREMER: Right.

SENATOR CUDABACK: This is not for counties. It's for everyone to have access to. If they have a question on zoning, they can go to this centralized point instead of calling up 93 counties. It's just that simple. I can't say it any more clearly. It's that simple. It wasn't meant to be complex. The complexity was taken out of it, Senator Kremer, when we withdrew the fact that they had to post all the notices. That's gone, and the fact that they had to have a comprehensive plan, that's gone. This bill has been watered down. This is just simply there for a place to go find those regs...regs.

SENATOR KREMER: Thank you. Our senat...our zoning administrator did say that it would be quite burdensome if it was the whole comprehensive plan, because that contained three or four hundred pages. But, if it's just the zoning regulations or any amendments that you might have, it would be posted once and then it would not cause a lot of cost after that. I think Senator Redfield mentioned that the cost would grow year by year, and I would think it would do the opposite of that. As counties become zoned and submit their plans or the amendments, they would not be doing it every year. It would not have to be anything from the Secretary of State's Office to take time. It would be just on the Internet where they could be accessed very easily and I think would have real value. Thank you.

SENATOR CROSBY: Thank you, Senator Kremer. Senator Vrtiska.

SENATOR VRTISKA: Thank you, Madam President. It's been already alluded to but I think it bears repeating, that when this bill was first brought before the committee, there were a lot of things that were put in this about notices for planning commission meetings, and for the comprehensive development plan and zoning resolutions, proposed amendments to the existing zoning resolutions, notice of hearings. All those things were in the original bill and, you know, frankly, the NACO was not excited about this bill and did not support it at that time. All of that stuff was taken out, it's been removed, and now it's only a notice of the filing that's going to be sent to the Secretary of
